

SUMMARY OF ST. LOUIS MARKETS.

Covering by shorts who oversold Tuesday and damage reports from several sections of the winter-wheat belt caused grain to advance in the local market yesterday. Buying of wheat was especially good throughout the session. Most of the bullish reports came from Kansas and Oklahoma, where it was said the meeting of the snow had disclosed the fact that the wheat had been injured by the extremely cold weather. Though many traders regarded these reports as the work of professional crop killers, others took them more seriously, when it was found that there was an unusually good outside demand for both spot and future grains. Liverpool and other European markets were strong and there was a fairly good export inquiry. Receipts here and at other primary points were light.

There was weak early in the session, but later reports from Iowa indicated that receipts in farmers' hands were being rapidly depleted. During the last hour there were an excellent cash inquiry and some export buying. The movement to Western markets was light.

May wheat opened 1¢ up and closed 3¢ up. July opened 1¢ up and closed 1¢ up. May corn opened 1¢ up and closed 1¢ up. July opened 1¢ up and closed 1¢ up.

There was no speculative trading in oats. May was 1¢ up to 41¢.

Trade was well and prices practically unchanged on the local Stock Exchange trust-company stock exchanges.

Stocks of grain clearances were $7,262,000; balances, $3,739,65.

Stocks of small clearances were steady between 4¢ and 5¢ per cent.

Stocks of grain were steady and unchanged in the local market.

GRAINS CLOSE HIGHER ON BULLISH REPORTS.

WHAT IN KANSAS MAY BE INJURED.

Corn in Good Cash and Export Demand and Well Bought by Outsiders.

Slight corrections followed Tuesday's decline in the local grain market yesterday. As is usual after a holiday, there was considerable covering by shorts, and prices had the additional impetus imparted by bullish crop reports from the South and Southwest. Crop killers were busy throughout the session. Reports of actions came to the growing areas came from several sections of Kansas and Oklahoma, where it was said the winter wheat had suffered from heavy snows and severe cold.

Reports were also received from the West Coast, California, Oregon, New Mexico, and Colorado.

Trade was active, mostly covered, with little cash buying. Prices were steady.

Receipts at St. Louis were steady and speculative demand was small and there was a better outside cash and speculative demand than for several days. The Chicago Tribune reported that the fall wheat crop was in fair condition except in the Ohio River Valley.

May wheat opened 1¢ up and closed 1¢ up. June corn opened 1¢ up and closed 1¢ up. July corn opened 1¢ up and closed 1¢ up. May oats opened 1¢ up and closed 1¢ up. May barley opened 1¢ up and closed 1¢ up.
